The Northern Illinois Critical Incident Stress Management (NICISM) is hosting the 3-day Critical Incident Stress Management Combined Group/Individual Crisis Intervention course. The course is certified by the International Critical Incident Stress Foundation.

TOPIC: Combined Group/Individual Crisis Intervention

This training will be of interest to anyone involved in emergency response and/or healthcare situations (i.e. police, fire, EMS, mental health professionals, chaplains, physicians, nurses and/or disaster workers) and wants to understand crisis intervention techniques. Those in the emergency response, spiritual support and mental health professions can all benefit from this training and learn how to assist in providing critical incident stress management services.

The program objectives will focus on individual and group crisis intervention utilizing the 7 core components of the critical incident stress management training program accepted by the International Critical Incident Stress Management Foundation (ICISF).

Topics include:

- The Nature of Stress versus Traumatic Stress
- Types of Critical Incidents
- CISM Team Structure
- Critical Incident Stress Services
 - On-Scene Support Services
 - Mobilization / Demobilization
 - Individual Sessions
 - Group Debriefing (CISD)
 - Defusing
 - Spousal / Significant Other Support
- Referral Options and Peer Limitations
